 It was a trip I'll never forget. Me and my family had decided to go on a journey through the forests of Siberia. My parents made all the arrangements and we set off for an exciting meeting with bewildering nature.

We stopped at a very picturesque place with bizarre weather and magical scenery. When I was stepping out of the car, I tripped over a huge log and fell onto the ground. My knee hurt, it was bleeding. It was rather challenging for me to stay calm at current situation. My parents didn't stay ignorant and immediately began acting.
 So confused was my mother's face when she realised there was no first aid kit in the car. Fortunately, my father knew the herb that could cure my pain. So, I made my recovery.

Every cloud has a silver lining. This accident only brought us closer. The rest of the evening was magnificent. I wanted to capture ~~the~~ my mother's blond hair, blue jeans and a shining smile and my father's loose jacket striped hat and gentle hands. Then mom asked me: "Where do you want to go tomorrow?" "Wherever, all of us together is what really matters" was my reply.
 That was the best trip ever. I learned to cherish the moments spent with my family, full of joy, happiness and true love. Even now I still smile when I look at the photo of that day.
