To: Museum directors

From: Author of the project

Since the last week, I have been working on a project about the attendance of museums and galleries. I guess you might find it interesting. All the data was taken from social statistics.

There are five the most famous museums and galleries in England drawn on the picture. I decided to rate them by the amount of visitors in 2017. As we can see, appealing to statistics, the number of visitors has increased from 2015 to 2017 for each of these museums. Also, all of them had more than 1,5 mln of visitors for 2017 only.

I have noticed that British Museum and National Gallery in 2017 had 0,5 mln more visitors than they did in 2015, while Tate Gallery, National History Museum and Science Museum had 0,3 mln more. However, it seems that people had little interest in National History Museum and Science Museum. Respectively speaking, these museums had a terrible decreasing of visitors from 2014 to 2015, which is totally different from the situation with the other museums.

There are some advises I would like to give you. Their substance is a better organisation. First of all, try to get rid of long queues, they make everyone tired and angry. Moreover, most of the facilities at the museums are pretty old. Modern facilities can attract young people and make the visit more comfortable, so it would be better to buy some.

I hope my report was helpful and you will think over my advices.
